	Business Occasions
1	Why do Japanese people usually greet others with Otsukare-sa-ma"Good job", Osewani natte-orimasu "Thank you for your acquaintance", or Yoroshiku onegai shimasu "Please do me the favor"?
2	Why do Japanese people start conversations with the topic of the weather?
3	Why do Japanese people call their supervisor by the job title and not their name?
4	Why do Japanese people use kisha for a company with which they do business and heisha for their own company? How should I refer to myself?
5	Is it better to arrive early for an appointment?
6	Where should I be seated in a meeting room, a car, or on the _ train?
7	What do I need to know about exchanging name cards?
8	Why do Japanese people bring souvenirs to business partners?
9	How can I know one's honne "real intention" and tatemae "what one says on the surface"?
10	What should I know about making an appointment for a visit? How about when I leave?
	Visiting Private Homes
11	Is it OK to arrive at someone's house before the expected time?
